

Bio of Khaled Abulaila

Khaled Abulaila, Director of Biodiversity and the National Seed Bank of Jordan at the National Agricultural Research Center (NARC)/Jordan, PhD, in conservation biology; he is an expert in wild flora native to the East Mediterranean with focus on Crop Wild Relatives and wild edible species native to the region. He has a long experience in floral survey, Identification of specimens collected, seed collection and conservation, mainly, Ex situ conservation, seed banking, species rehabilitation and habitat restoration. He is a partner collaborator with the MSB/RBG/Kew/UK; he is the national focal point for biodiversity for food and agriculture, and plant genetic resources at the Commission on Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture and focal point of the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture/FAO. He is Mashreq Sub-Region representative, coordinator of Plant Genetic Resources Network and national focal point of the Global Manifesto on Neglected Under Utilized Species-Forgotten Foods at the Association of Agricultural Research Institutions in the Near East & North Africa (AARINENA). He is also a member of Key Biodiversity Areas (KBA) national technical committee/RSCN, a member of Asia Arabian Plant Specialist Group (WAAPSG), a member of the editorial board of the Jordan Journal of Natural History of the RSCN, member of the CITES national committee of Jordan and a member of Plant Variety Protection National technical committee

Email: kabulaila@gmail.com

PO BOX 639 Baqa' 19381 Jordan

Tel: 00962 6 4725071

Fax: 00962 6 4726099

Mobile: 00962796602987